"SHORT," WALLACE SAYS
WASHINGTON, May 15.—(P)—
Big speculators in wheat futures in the grain pit today were described by Secretary Wallace as short "on an average five days out of every six" from April 1, 1930, to October 22, 1932, in a report to the senate.

The statement was in answer to a senate resolution of March 2 asking a variety of information as a result of the order of former Secretary Hyde on October 22, suspending requirements for reporting grain transactions to the government.

In his report, Wallace declined to give the names of persons and firms short 1,000,000 bushels or more during the past "two or three years" on the Chicago board of trade, as asked by the senate.

He explained the grain futures trading laws prohibited his public release of this information.

Court Rules City Democratic Body Must Reduce Its Number.

The constitutionality of the action of the legislature in March regulating the primary elections in the city of Atlanta and providing, among other things for the reduction of the city democratic executive committee from 52 members to 13, was upheld Monday in Fulton superior court in an order by Judge John D. Humphries.

The order makes it manulatory for the committee to hold an election for its own membership on September 20.

The validity of the new law was challenged by the committee, which refused to call an election for membership in its own ranks. W. H. Howell and J. A. Harper, of the third ward, and Robert Goodman, of the 13th ward, brought mandamus actions seeking to force the committee to call the election and allow them to be 13th ward, brought mandamus actions seeking to force the committee to call the election and allow them to be Howell mandamus, but the same ruling will apply to the other two seeking to be candidates, said Judge Humphries.

The executive committee indicated that they will file a bill of exceptions in a few days seeking to carry the matter to the state supreme court and that after they have filed such action may seek a supercedeas which would automatically stay the execution of the court's order until the ruling has been passed upon. This will be done at once, it was said, so that a ruling may be obtained from the higher court before Spetember.

Automatic approval of the law affirms all provisions, one of which provides for the reduction in number of the committee and another that all wides for the reduction in number of the committee and another that all committeemen must reside in the ward they represent for two years prior to taking office. This disqualifies Dr. Samuel Green, chairman, who has resided in the thirteenth ward less than two years. Green had no statement to make Monday.

In declaring the mandamus absolute, Judge Humphries said of the legislative act passed on March 23 of this year. "The meaning of the act, it seems, is clearly to place upon present party officers the statutory duty to call and hold elections for the purposes and in the manner required by the act. Judicial discretion with reference thereto cannot be substituted for legislative discretion exercised in the adoption of the act."

The defendants were also ordered by the court to pay the costs in the case. John I. Kelley, attorney for the committee, stated he will appeal.

Howell was represented by O. Lee White while Harper and Goodman were represented by J. K. Jordan, J. Ira Harrelson, Philip Weltner and Stephen Mitchell.

Protest in Behalf of Radical Starts Columbia Campus Row

NEW YORK, May 15.—(P)—Students clashed in free-for-all fights across the campus of Columbia University today as the aftermath of a strike to protest the authorities fail former Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, who edits a liberal magazine.

Eyes were blackened, eggs were heaved, clothes were torn and anti-Henderson students inadvertantly played a hose on the police when the stream failed to reach the demonstra-tors, but only three arrests were made. The strike, in which some 500 students participated, started with peace and the nicketing display of humars and azine.

The disorders finally tapered off to raucus bellowing of "reinstate Henderson." The students paraded about the streets bellowing their rally cry. and obtained a truck with loud speakers to augment the din.

The parade wound up before the home of Dr. Butler.

Widely Known Character Player Succumbs Following Operation.

NEW YORK. May 15.—(P)—One of the screen's noted character actors. Ernest Torrence, died today. The giant Scot—known to millions over the world as the villainous mountaineer in "Tol'able David" and the scout in "The Covered Wagon"—sank into a death coma Sunday after failing to rally from a gall operation at the Lenox Hill hospital. His wife and a son, Ernest Torrence Jr., were at the bedside.

Torrence was uncommunicative about his fife, even among close friends, and it was not until his death that it was learned from relatives that he was 54 years old.

Before going to Hollywood, Torrence won recognition as a concert pianist, a musical comedy favorite, a grand opera singer and a character role portrayer on Broadway.

Pioneered in Talkies.

The development of sound pictures brought to him his greatest recognition—a field he pioneered in. As he once related, it was more than 20 years ago, in Thomas Edison's laboratory, that the first sound film was recorded—with Torrence singing the role of the baritone, Valentine, in "Faust."

After "Tol'able David" in Hollywood came characterizations in "Broken Chains," "The Hunchback Goddess," and "Mantrap."

Sometimes these were comic instead of sinister.
Before leaving California a month ago on the intended Scotland vacation that ended in his death, Torrence completed his work in the screening of "I Cover the Waterfront." which will have its broadway premiere Wednesday.

A memorial for Torrence is planned for the opening.

Woman Is Said To Have Revealed New Light on Big Ben's Death.

J. D. Lee. His client was convicted for the second time in superior court last week of the murder.

Lee was at one time given the death penalty but after it was commuted he was granted a new trial. The second trial resulted in a life sentence. A motion for a new trial was filed Monday by Powell and Marvin Russell, associate counsel. Judge Virlyn B. Moore set hearing on the motion for June 17.

Powell is said to have obtained a statement from an inmate of the Georgia Training School for Girls near Adamsville, Monday afternoon. Her statement was taken by a court stenographer and will be signed this morning, it was said.

The statement is purported to declare that the girl was a guest in the Lichtenstein apartment along with another girl on the night of the murder and that a strange man came into the room, engaged in an argument with Lichtenstein and drew a pistol. The other girl grabbed his arm and the gun was discharged, striking Lichtenstein, the statement is said to set out. The trio then fled by backstairs.

Lee was convicted of the murder on evidence which purported to show that he was at the apartment with Harry Kosnofsky when the fatal shot was fired. Kosnofsky is terving life for the murder and on the stand testified that Lee was behind him in the hall outside of the apartment but that he did not know who fired the shot. He testified that when he went to the door he heard voices inside.

It was further learned that Powell and the court reporter went to Monroe Monday night to obtain another statement in connection with the case.

The legislative session scheduled for Monday was postponed until Tuesday to permit members of the executive committee to prepare for an execu-tive session tonight at which rec-

Delegates said the committee prob-ably would consider a move to hold an annual three-day institute, in addition to the convention, similar to the institute held by the Georgia Press Association, to instruct members

ATHENS, Ga., May 15 .- (P)-Sucence should bring credit to the cess of the London economic conference should bring credit to the United States and place leadership in American hands for the first time, Dr. Jacob Viner, professor of economics of the University of Chicago, said before the Institute of public affairs here Monday.

Tariffs are not problems for domestic settlement, he said, and previous economic conferences have failed because they have been gatherings of diplomats seeking victories or concessions for their own countries.

"What we need," he said, "are diplomatic defeats. We must concede to other countries and they must concede to us. At this time the things countries cling to most in international bargaining are the things from which most profit can be gotten by surrender. We will profit by concessions made to other countries, not by concessions given."

The United States, the speaker said, is the most discriminated against country in the world.

Dr. Viner was a special expert with the United States tariff commission in 1917-1918; the United States shipping board in 1918; and visiting professor to the Institute Universitaire De Hautes Etudes Internationales, Geneva, Switzerland, in 1930-1931. He is editor of the Journal of Political Economy.

"To wait for natural processes to create business recovery would now be dangerous delay. The secret of business recovery is the re-establishment of profit margins in business so that spendable funds will be used and banks can be induced to create new funds. Inflation proceeds on the theory that this recovery will be induced by an increase in prices without proportionate increase in costs, thus re-establishing a profit margin in business.

re-establishing a profit margin in business.

"All the government can do safely is to prime the inflation pump. In the last analysis, the public will have to do its own inflating.

"There are," according to Mr. Viner, "two chief dangers in inflation. First, a deliberate wildness on the part of the government or banks and, second, the development of a budgetary deficit which would compel the government to resort to the printing press."

He minimized the danger of budgetary definitions and the development of the government to resort to the printing press."

"Some dangers." he said, "may accrue from the fact that too great a price increase may be undertaken. A rise of 15 to 20 per cent in prices should now be sufficient for a substantial business recovery, anything more than that is likely to be unfair to labor and will create huge unearned profits at the expense of the rest of the community."

Professor Paul Douglas, of the University of Chicago, will give two lectures Tuesday on phases of world unemployment, which will conclude this year's session of the institute.

Georgia needs a "new deal" in many respects, Quimby Melton, editor of the Griffin News, declared, in delivering the annual home-coming address here.

"It's great to be a Georgian," he said, "if one realizes that there is a real opportunity for one to be of service to their state. Many things need remedying and most of the remedial action must be taken by the younger generation."

The entire address was one of contrasts. "We brag that Georgia is a leader in higher education and we point with pride to the fact that Wesleyan was the first chartered woman's college to issue a degree and the University of Georgia was the first state university in the world. But we soft pedal the fact that Georgia's common schools are in danger of not being able to open next fall for lack of funds and many teachers have gone unpaid. "Georgia was founded by General Oglethorpe as a haven where men, deeply indebt, could get a new start on a 'new deal' if you please. MILLEN, May 15.—(P)—Acquaintance with a soldier of the American Revolution and a squaw of an Indian tribe that used to inhabit Georgia is the proud boast of Mrs. Abner Beleher, who celebrated her 92d birthday by hoeing in the garden and mending the baruyard fence.

She was very young when she knew them, but her memory is vivid and she proudly recounts conversations with the man who helped Washington free the colonies and the woman whose race finally vanished before the onward march of white settlers.

To this day, she practices things learned from the squaw who was known by the white folk as "Briney Jackson." For one thing, "Briney taught her that cloth dyed blue with indigo will turn green if soaked for a few hours in water filled with walnut leaves.

And she has a score or more of household medicines which the old Indian taught her to make from roots and herbs gathered in the forests.

Candy Is Merely Something Sticky To Those Who Work in a Candy Store -By Robert Quillen-

It isn't by accident that the hills look green far away. It is one of nature's tricks. If the distant hills revealed their drabness, as those near at hand do, nobody would be enticed away from home and the race would huddle in one spot to die of starvation.

The girls in far places are fairer than those at home and the lads who come from afar have a charm no lass can resist. Why is it so? Because the clan needs new blood. If neighbors intermarry for generations, minds

The bold and the young, hungering for romance not seen in familiar ways, are filled with the sublime discontent that inspires all progress.

This discontent is a trick, but it works. It wins laurels. It prompts the climb to higher levels. It invents machines. It produces great works of art. In short, it is responsible for all that the race accomplishes.

And man never discovers the trick until it is too late to matter.

In this case, philosophy reveals the truth that all green hills sho the brown earth when you get there—that sweets never are as sweet as you thought they would be—that the greatest success seems merely another type of failure when you get accustomed to it.

There is no harm in telling the truth. The bold and the young won't believe it. They will win their laurels before they learn. But those who can win no laurels need comfort. Let them find it in this: The fine people you long to know are ordinary when you know them and fame itself is a bore when you get accustomed to it. Contentment is a gift—not the result of winning something.

Gallerystes Active.

The council gallery composed of prohibitionists and wets vociferiously applauded Key and Councilman John A. White, one of the staunch supporters of the movement. The chair warned spectators and the outbursts thereafter subsided to laughter.

Beer advocates regarded the Monday action as a certain sign of victory, and Alderman James E. Bowden and Councilmen C. W. Childs and William T. Knight, authors, predicted easy passage at the next meeting.

Councilman H. Parks Rusk, one of the 16, who voted to sustain Richards in his ruling that the ordinance was out of order because it conflicted with state laws, came to the meeting bearing a cold bottle of 3.2 beer, which he said "I purchased in a block of the city hall."

Knight presented the ordinance and J. Charlie Murphy, of the eleventh ward, immediately raised the point of order as to its legality.

Warm Fight in East Point.

Alderman Henry B. Coleman, of East Point, is the author of the ordinance which would permit sale of the beverage there, and presented it Monday night to council session.

After an extended hearing featured by cat calls, hisses, applause and yells, it was sent by order of Mayor H, L. Carmichael to the ordinance committee. There will be no hearing at the next session, but council itself will wrestle with the issue, it was announced.

Alderman R. B. McDuffie made a motion that the council hear from the public as the little chamber was pointing out that the federal government taxes its sale and sells stamps here in Atlanta by order of David Burnett, internal revenue collector of the United States.

As Murphy arose to attack, the ordinance, Bowden arose to ask:

Murphy then refused to yield to Councilman White. "This ordinance would merely give the city the right to collect taxes, and provides that it does not protect anyone selling the beverage against prose-cution by state authorities," Berman said. "It is legal because it merely goes a step further than the state laws and prescribes that if beer is sold the city can collect a license. "Is Atlanta not to back the president in his efforts to re-establish and rehabilitate the country? I hope this council overrides this decision."

On motion of Berman, Key was invited to speak before the council voted on the matter.

"I accept the invitation," Key said.

"This is a highly controversial subject on which honest men may well differ. Many questions have to be settled in government which are not adjusted according to the atrict letter of the law. I give men permits to work on Sundays—clearly a violation of the state laws.

Alderman R. B. McDuffie made a motion that the council hear from the public as the little chamber was crowded to capacity and the walls were lined with those who could not find seats.

Professor J. T. McGee. of Russell High school, was the first to the floor. He attacked the proposal as illegal and as "objectionable to large number of the good citizens of East Point."

During his vehement denunciation of the proposal, he was heckled by a portion of the crowd, as he cited the federal statute repealing the Volstead act.

Millican branded the ordinance "as strictly a subterfuge to show that soup is not soup. Members of this council who vote for it violate their oaths of office unless it is authorized by the state before we take any action," he said.

In making his ruling, Richards expressed reluctance to rule any measure out of order.

"You are the judges," he told council. "It is perfectly clear to me that the ordinance is illegal and out of order. You have a recourse. All you have to do is to appeal from the decision of the chair."

Council Monday afternoon referred to the traffic committee for further consideration an ordinance to licens drivers of motor vehicles in Atlanta after Councilman William G. Hast-ings, chairman of the traffic commit-tee, told the council he would not ob-ject to such a procedure.

The measure providing for collection of a 50-cent fee from all drivers after they have been examined as to their proficiency, has the sanction of the police committee of council and Mayor James L. Key's traffic commission.

Alderman Ben T. Huiet attempted to have it referred to the traffic committee when it was first presented, but council refused to send it back. To the extent which we would not accept sufficiently of their goods, they could only repay by sending us their gold. So, having refused their goods, we took their gold until we ruined the currency and banking systems of the world, including our own, until international exchanges and trade were paralyzed.

"The fact about it is, the sad fact, the indicting fact, that we insisted upon the performance of the bond, and then we made it utterly impossible for the bond to be performed.

"Had the commerce of the world been developed and enlarged, had barriers to trade been diminished rather than increased, had our efforts and our capital been applied to productive ends, had we not tried to gain by speculation what we did not earn, the normal indebtedness resulting from such extensions of credit would not have been burdensome on the borrower or insecure to the lender, because every dollar would have paid its own way and more. Have we learned the lesson that we cannot lend at home and then close the bank where our debtor has his money? Have we learned that we cannot lend abroad and then destroy international trade, which is the only bank of which our foreign indebtedness canbe paid?

WASHINGTON. May 15.—(R)—President Roosavelt was reported in high quarters today to have selected five outstanding members of the democratic party as leaders of the American delegation to the all-important world economic conference opening in London on June 12.

The chief executive, it was said reliably, has chosen James M. Cox, Newton D. Baker and Bernard M. Baruch to accompany Secretary Hull and Chairman Pittman of the senate foreign relations committee to the conference.

Dollfuss originally threatened to expel him outright as an undesirable alien, if Dr. Frank attempted nazi political agitation in Austria.

It also was learned that the Austrian legation in Berlin protested today to the German foreign office against Frank's presence in this country, particularly after his speech at Graz, which the minister plainly told the German authorities was regarded as insulting to Premier Dollfuss.

The delegation of five members was said to be tentative, and it was not disclosed whether the president had obtained promises to serve from the three non-official members.

President Roosevelt had been reported as seeking at least one republican to send to the conference, but is understood to have decided to draw his representatives from his own party with the tacit agreement of some leading republicans.

These republicans took the view that the nature of the problems to be considered at the London conference, involving some long-standing issues between the parties, might be handled better by united democratic delegations.

Although Assistant Secretary Moley of the state department has been expected to be a member of the delegation, his name was not on the tentative slate reported drawn by the president.

A good average balance in your account indicates that you do not require all your money constantly. It tells the banker that you are able to build a reserve to discharge any extra obligation. The HONEYMOON MURDER

BY CAROLYN WELLS

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

The third day after Perills Fairfax and the wealthy Corey Malden are married at the Long Island summer home of John Lovell, her stepfather. Corey dies auddenly in their hotel at Washington where they stop en route by motor to his mother's home at Richmond. Madame Malden, as the old lady wishes to be called, greets Perillia with. "You murdered him," and when Perillia returns to New York and consuits Fleming Stone. a famous detective, Stone learns there is dangerous gossip in Richmond. Corey left the greater part of his large fortune to Perilla. Stone is told how the night before the wedding Malcolm Fairfax, Perilla's brother, asked for aspirin and Tony Gaskell, the best man, produced some tabets, saying they were better. Corey as well as Malcolm took them. Bob Coles, a friend of Malcolm, admits to Stone that be is in love wih Perilla but later gains Stone's consent to his working with Stone on the Malden case. Bob reports that Farman, Madame Maiden's Richmond lawyer, also believes Perilla killed Corey, and that Richard Carleton, of Washington, one of the executors of Corey's will, its friendly with Farman. The other executors are Tony Gaskell, who is a successful Philadelphia lawyer. Perilla's doctor orders a change and she starts on a motor trip. In her party is Hilds Sheldon, who was her maid of honor, and they stop overnight at Scottatown, Ohio, at Rosecroft, the home of Hilds's sister, Mrs. "Hay" Field. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

could see the doctor begin to look embarrassed.

"There's lots of poisons," he said, "that don't act right straight off the minute you take 'em."

"True," Stone agreed, "but those poisons, when they do act, draw the victim up into spasms and writhing contortions."

"You're up on poisons, I see," and the doctor scowled.

"Not so much as you are, not as much as I'd like to be; that's why I want your knowledge and skill. How far does your experience carry you? Do you know much about the rarer poisons?"

"Not so much as you are, not as and Dr. Crane made his admission frankly if a bit unwillingly.

"If Bob was killed by one of those little known drugs that always crop up in the story books," Malcolm put in, "then it's no suicide. Where could he get a thing of that sort? That argues for murder, eh, Mr. Stone?"

"And the motive?" Stone looked thoughtful. As to clues?" He looked about Bob's room. "Nothing has been touched. What do we read? Only that Coles came up to his room last night, somewhat hastily undressed and tumbled into bed and fell asleep last night, somewhat hastily undressed and tumbled into bed and fell asleep at once. He never woke, not even

"Poison, I suppose, as we find no signs of shooting or stabbing. Yet we may find those things when we get around to a real examination. Stebbins, you call up the morgue and let's get started."

"You don't agree to a natural death, then?" Stone looked straig't at him. Well, I'm glad you're to have an autopsy; I'm curious about some points. And I certainly want to be present."

"You may, of course. Are you a medical man, Mr. Stone?"

"Not quite that, but my calling brings me up against medical matter more or less, and I can't help learning a bit here and there."

"I see. And are you looking for anything definite as a result of the post mortem?"

"Well, yes, I think I may say I am. That is, I'm looking for corroboration."

"Of your own theories?"

"Of my own deductions. I have small use for theories in a murder case."

"I see. I suppose, now, Mr. Stone, small use for theorem.

"I see. I suppose, now, Mr. Stone, you know who did this murder?"

"Yes, I suppose I do."

"And you know the motive?"

"Oh, that, of course."

"And the method used?"

"I think so, but that must be controlled by the results of the autopsy."

roborated by the results of the autopsy."

Dr. Merritt's eyes had grown larger and rounder as this conversation went on, but these three statements were more than he could swallow. Sarcasm crept into his voice. "Then, sir, if you know the murderer, the motive and the method, why not divulge your secrets and let us make an arrest?" (Copyright, 1933, for The Constitued Tomorrow.

Star designs are always popular in a quilt, and when three of them are formed into an attractive flower design as shown here, the block is doubly beautiful. When one has as large a block as this, there are not so many to make, so the pattern can afford to be more intricate. Since this block measures about 18 inches, only 12 are required. Pink flowers, green leaves and a yellow basket make auch a pretty combination. Any color checked gingham would also be pretty for the basket, white, unbleached or egshell muslin is pretty for the background. FRIENDLY COUNSEL' Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I have outgrown my family and though it may sound foolish, I believe this is one of the tragedies of life. My parents were very poor and what you might call under-privileged, yet they gave me the advantages of a good education and I got a position as a teacher in a large city school. Here I met and married an educated, successful businessman. Now our children are growing up and are old enough to be embarrassed by the crude manners of my old mother and father. I have tried to show my parents that good manners are not an affectation of "city foths," but they look at each other sorrowfully as much as to say, "She is ashamed of us and we had better stay at home where we are comfortable." Their visits to our home are a source of mortification and embarrassment to us and a source of pain to them. They are too old to change their ways. When a man has left his spoon in his cup for 50 years, he cannot learn to take it out and put it on his saucer. When he gets accustomed to eating with his knife and using his fork for a spear he won't readily give up the practice. A discussion of this problem might do some good. It will certainly be of interest to those like myself who are striving to be dutiful to parents with whom they are not congenial.

ALICE L. V.

Answer: It is very strange that parents who have ambition for their have this right and the parent who recognized it and heeded it was wise indeed. A correspondent wrote indignantly that she disagreed with the conclusion and told this story in illustration of her contention: A certain young woman home from college was much mortifled by the manner in which her father disposed of his soup. For many weeks she sat silent and suffering under the ordeal but never making bold to speak to him about his had manners. Being herself sensitive she couldn't speak of the matter, yet ahe couldn't apeak of the matter, yet ahe couldn't apeak of the matter, yet ahe couldn't speak of the matter. Yet ahe couldn't speak of the matter, yet ahe couldn't speak of the matter. Yet ahe couldn't speak of the matter yet ahe couldn't speak of the matter. Yet ahe couldn't speak of the matter, yet ahe couldn't speak of the matter. Yet ahe couldn't speak of the matter, yet ahe couldn't speak of the matter of th

Say what you please, the world rates us according to our external conduct. Golden qualities of mind and character may be known to our loved ones and our intimates, but the loved ones and our intimates, but the general public sits in judgment on our manners. Why should parents be willing to mortify and humilate their children by refusing to accept their suggestions when they involve so little as the proper use of a table instrument? The very knife that is supposed to cut the food yet instead goes into the mouth as a shovel, cuts something else in two; the, bond of love and admiration which every dutiful child wants to keep intact between her parents and herself.

Of course, it is not pleasant for any parent to be reminded by a child that his or her manners are offensive, that his or her conduct gives pain to children or grand-children, but how much better to hear the bitter truth and correct the offense-giving habits than to be stubbornly deaf to a child's entreaties, or to be so super-sensitive that the child dare not mention the matters that give him pain and make him ashamed of his parent.

The best thing old people can have is the affection and the admiration of their children. When they forfeit this they have nothing left worth counting. Youth is gone, with it the multiple interests and activities that have filled their days. Even if they have measured to put the conventions.

Crackers Get Two Pitchers; Play Chicks Twin Bill Here Today

The Iwo-Foot Putt One of Sport's Toughest Assignments

Errie Ball, of East Lake and Highland clubs, will be 'At lanta's representative in the national open at Chicago. The splendid young professional led the qualifiers at East Lake Monday with a fine 145, beating the runner-up, Dan Goss, of Birmingham, by seven strokes.

Charley Yates, the state champion, ran into one of the toughest assignments in sport, a putt of a foot and a half which, if it dropped, would give him a tie with Goss.

A putt of that distance is probably the most difficult play in any sport. I recall a long talk with Ted Coy, the famous Yale football star of bygone days. He was cold as ice on the gridiron, lacking any display of nerves. Yet when he took up golf a two-foot putt always caused him to tremble and perspire.

Yates, trying gamely to drop his first putt for a birdie two, which would have made him Ball's partner in the open, overran the cup a foot and a half. And then missed the hardest of all putts back.

It was a fine field which assembled here for the trials. Polly Boyd, for years one of the south's best golfers and a former national intercollegiate champion, missed the open but supplied an unusual shot. On No. 4 he sliced and hit a telephone pole only to see the ball bound back to the fairway for a good lie.

Boyd, who weighs about 108 pounds after being caught out in a heavy rainstorm, has always been a good golfer, proving that weight is not always a real factor.

Over on the second of the East Lake courses there was a fellow named Bobby Jones enjoying a friendly round of golf. Late in the afternoon he came over and asked who had won.

THE BASEBALL TRADES.

Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson and Charles Moore, the president and manager, have purchased themselves a thermometer to hang on the wall out at Ponce de Leon park.

It seems that the Crackers all said that as soon as hot weather came around with blistering shade, they would begin hitting the baseball and winning games.

"The papers say it has been hot for about a week now," said Your Uncle Robby, "but in order that there may be no mistake we have put this thermometer up where one and all may read. It's now officially hot."

The boys seem to be girding themselves for the struggle. Joseph Willing Engle, the Chattanooga resident, has purchased himself some pitching help and an outfielder who will supply some punch. Max Rosenfeld, who once was dropped off here by the Brooklyns, is to join the Lookout outfield

The Atlanta club has purchased a couple of pitchers and there is a deal on which will swing another pitcher into the line-up within the next week or so.

Other clubs are making gestures but none so determined as the Chattanoogas and the Atlantas.

MEADE LOOKS GREAT.

Don Meade looks like a great jockey now that the Preak-ness has been won by Head Play with Broker's Tip trailing by Meade brought the Bradley horse along in the Kentucky Derby and won with him while having a little wrestling match with Herb Fisher. Head Play's jockey.

The Bradley horse couldn't have been whole for the fore the race and which was subsequently denied, is now reported snapped again. The osselet, which is just a small bone, must have been snapped before the Bradley horse ran Saturday.

He had too much heart (keeping his pace when lashed across the face by Fisher's whip) to quit in the Preakness. The Bradley stable probably hoped for the best. Those who bet on the Bradley colt won't feel too kindly toward the owner. At any rate, Jockey Don Meade is made to look like a super-pilot of thoroughbreds.

Charley Kurtsinger, who rode Head Play to victory in the Preakness, is labeled "lucky" by his fellow jockeys. His Preakness experience would seem to indicate just that. He was a last-minute choice to ride the winner.

Kurtsinger rode Twenty Grand in 1931. His winnings in that year passed $392,000. Last year saw him win $57,000 in purses.

This year he won the Cuban Grand National, and a purse of $50,000. And Saturday he won the $25,000 Preakness. In three years his winnings have been about $600,000.

Head Play, incidentally, has already paid for himself. He cost $30,000 on Derby Eve. He won $6,000 in the Derby and the Preakness was worth $26,850 to the winner. All of which finds a $30,000 investment showing a profit in the space of a week.

WILLIAM KEEFE RECALLS.

Bill Keefe, the famous New Orleans bachelor, recalls that beer once had a very fine influence on Atlanta ball players and hopes that the state will not obtain the beverage. He writes of the days when the late Charley Frank was managing Atlanta and the team came to New Orleans for a double-header. Some of the newspapermen and players asked Keefe to show them the town. Keefe writes:

"New Orleans was wide open in those days-maybe not quite as wide open as it is today, but wide open nevertheless—and, however reluctant I was to 'make a night of it,' I had agreed to take the boys around. "'Can you persuade some of those ball players to drink a little beer? "Heine" said, jokingly.

"I had absolutely no intention of doing so, but when the party started out four or five of the Crackers asked to go along for an hour or two. There was no great harm in their going, since they insisted, and as I was aspecially anxious to see the Pelicans dust them off in a doubleheader the following day, why I side a chief.

indstrom's Triple With Bases Full Starts Bucs' Attack.

PITTSBURGH, May 15.—(P) Freddy Lindstrom's triple with the bases loaded was the spark plug of an 11-hit attack that sent the Pittsburgh Pirates bounding back into first place in the National league with a 5-to-4 victory over the Phillies today.
Lindstrom came through with what proved to be a very important hit in the second inning after three successive singles by Vaughan. Piet and Padden had scored the Pirate shortstop. With two out Lloyd Waner drove out a one-bagger, leaving the bases loaded for Lindstrom's triple, which hit the right field wall.

An error by Virgil Davis, after Traynor had singled, paved the way for the Priates other run in the fourth inning. That was all the Corsairs got off Jim Elliott and Collins, who succeeded him in the seventh, but it was all they needed with Meine pitching good hall.

Prothro's Retirement Becomes League Myth

Fiery Chick Manager Still in Harness Despite Mott in Field Annual Spring Stories.

By Jimmy Jones.

James Thompson Prothro, who shed a dentist's apron back in Dyersberg, Tenn., 10 years ago when Joe Engel subsidized him into becoming a professional ball player with the Washington Senators, is "creeping up" on 40 but still gets a tremendous wallop out of the game of baseball. Maybe the dual task of playing third base and managing the Memphis Chickasaws affords a natural outlet for Prothro's born qualities as a fighter. And being dentist the year around requires more pacifism and patience than anything else.

Whatever the case, "Doc" Prothro finds it harder and harder to get out of harness. He's like the fiery old fire horse who snorts and prances when the bell rings. Each spring there are stories that Prothro will let a younger and better man play third and retire to bench managing.

third and retire to bench managing. But somehow the younger and better man never comes along. Why? Because there is no one in the league who can do a better job of playing third right now than Prothro.

Invariably, he lays out his ball club in the spring with so and so put down as the third baseman. But the wise boys always wag their noggins and declare that it won't be for long. They generally set May 1 for Doc Prothro's annual coming-out-of-retirement party, and sure enough, that is just about the time that the genial molar snatcher gets his favorite glove down, oils it up and goes to work.

State Crown at Stake in Final Game at Athens.

The much-contested state baseball title for 1933 will go to the winner of the Georgia-Oglethorpe game this afternoon at Athens.

Tied with five victories and three defeats each and having divided the previous four-game series, the Petrels and the Bulldags will strive to reach a decision todaw.

The game is being played as a benefit for the fund to build Georgia Hall at Warm Springs. Oglethorpe will pay its expenses to Athens and back, and both teams will turn their share of the gate into the fund.

When Coach Frank Anderson and Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, of Oglethorpe, were approached by President S. V. Sanford, of Georgia, relative to the game, both men were highly in favor of the idea. They agreed at once to be a party to the benefit.

Both teams have their best lineups available. Buster Mott will be in the Rulldogs lineup, reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

Lefty Dixon who held Auburn to three hits in last Friday's game at the Loveliest Village, will face Georgia again. Charley Vance will catch.

Dixon, incidentally, played a hero role twice in the Georgia series at Ponce de Leon park. He twice went in as relief pitcher and stopped the Bulldogs.

Coach Bill White probably will use Jimmy Nicholson, the best pitcher on his staff and also one of the best in southern college circles. Leroy Moorehead will go behind the plate.

There will be a real pitching duel in the decisive game if these two young moundsmen tie up.

On the Georgia team are two Atlanta boys, Mott and Virlyn Moore, and several other old favorites, such as Cy Grant and Homer Key.

Oglethorpe will present the usual lineup—Parker Bryant, first base; Monford Whitley, second base; Chink Martin, shortstop; Buster Fisher, third base; Belton Clark, left field; Sam Baker, center field, and Willie Bell Robison, right field.

Mrs. Charlie Black Jr. and Mrs. John Welch shared medal honors Monday morning on the Capital City Country Club course in the qualifying round of the annual Maier and Berkele trophy tournament. They had cards of 94 each. Second place also was divided when Mrs. O. B. Keeler, Mrs. Mike King, Mrs. L. H. Beck, Mrs. Ben Barrow and Mrs. Guy Butler finished with 97 strokes each. First round matches will be played today starting at 8:30 o'clock, and handicaps will not apply in any of the matches.

The championship flight was made of the 16 low scorers and the defeated eight in today's play will form a consolation flight, and continue play during the remainder of the week.

Several unusually good matches should result in today's play as the championship flight is more evenly divided than ever before. Mrs. Black plays Mrs. Oliver Healey, and Mrs. Welch meets Mrs. Wright in outstanding matches.

Constitution Carriers To Be Robby's Guests

Carriers of The Constitution will be guests of President Wilbert Robinson and the Atlanta Creckers at Wednesday's ball game with the Memphis Chicks.

Yesterday, Uncle Robby announced his plans to give the boys who deliver your morning paper an outing and issued the invitation. He noticed that they had been invited to see Joe E. Brown's baseball picture, "Elmer the Great," and decided it would be a fine thing to have them out to see a real ball game.

FOREMAN, AUBE ARE TO REPORT HERE AT ONCE

First Game of Bill to Start at 2; Ladies Are Guests.

By Jimmy Jones.

Given a day of grace Monday upon which to rest their road-weary upon which to rest their road-weary muscles and take stock of themselves, the Crackers are ready to make another big effort toward heading back to the first division when they play Doc Prothro's Memphis Chicks in a Ladies' Day double-header at Ponce de Leon, first game starting at 2 o'clock.

Meanwhile, your Uncle Wilbert Robinson, suffering great pain and mental anguish over failure of the Cracker pitchers to protect a 9-2 lead in the first game at Birmingham Sunday, got on the wires yesterday and contacted some more pitching help for the ball club.

TWO RIGHT-HANDERS.

TWO RIGHT-HANDERS.

TWO RIGHT-HANDERS.

He announced the acquisition on option of two young right-handers. Hormidas Aube. from the St. Paul club of the American association, and Charles Foreman, from Baltimore of the International league. Both pitchers will come on option to the Crackers and have been ordered to report at once.

Foreman took part in 41 games for the Orioles last season, winning six and losing six. He was taken in preference to Glenn Liebhardt Jr., son of a former famous Southern league pitcher, by Manager Charley Moore who saw him in action in the International league in 1932 and liked his looks.

International league in 1932 and liked his looks.

Aube was suggested to the Crackers by George Weiss, business manager of the New York Yankees' minor league chain, as a sort of balm for the failure of Pitcher Rufus Meadows, also suggested by Weiss, to do the ball club any good.

HAS THE STUFF.

Ball club any good.

HAS THE STUFF.

While Aube has not done a great deal of pitching for St. Paul this year, he showed considerable stuff as a youngster in winning 10 and losing four for Albany of the Eastern league in 1931 and with Binghampton of the New York-Penn league last year. Moore thinks both Foreman and Aube capable of winning here, unless they have gone backward. They will therefore be tried on an option basis to see what they can do.

The Crackers made a strong effort to pry Pete Jablonowski, who won 11 games and lost 1 for the champion Newark club last year, loose from the Yankees, but could not do so. To date, a couple of rookies, Teddy Kleinhans and Max Butcher, are doing the only consistent pitching for the Crackers, whereas the old-timers of the staff, who are supposed to know the hitters in the league, have not been able to strike their stride. This is all very puzzling to President Robinson, who can't quite understand why the veterans shouldn't be doing as well as the rookies, anyway.

Uncle Robby declared.

While strongly hopeful that Bob Hasty and Andy Messenger will return to form soon, the Cracker heads are not going to give up the hunt for pitchers. They point out that the club has only to win a few games to get back in the thick of the pennant fight and that now is the time to strongthen.

MOORE HARD UP.
Today Moore is hard up for pitchers, due to the toll doubleheaders and so much traveling his taken of his staff. He probably will start Andy Messenger in one of the games and either Blethen or Kleinhans in the other. Messenger has had more rest than any pitcher on the staff—two days—while Kleinhans pitched five innings Sunday.

Some cheering news lies in the fact that Eddie Phillips, the Crackers' heady and hard-hitting catcher, has recovered completely from a bothersome charley horse and is ready to get back in harness again today. The Crackers are a different club when Eddie is in there, although young Neisler hasn't done a bad job of subbing.

Doc Prothro, boss of the league-leading Chicks, says he will use Armbrust, sensational rookie and the veteran southpaw, Billy Bayne, against the Crackers.

Georgia State Loop To Open Wednesday

MACON. Ga., May 15.—(P)—The national pastime will return in a big way to six cities of the state this week with the opening of the Georgia State baseball league season.

Bozo and Knowles Are Here for Fight

Are Here for Fight

With both Carl Knowles and Battling Bozo on the battle site, Atlanta fans are assured of one of the outstanding bouts of the season at the Cain street arena Wednesday night. The record of Battling Bozo is second to that of W. L. Stribling only among southern fighters. He has met the leading heavy and light-heavy fighters of the present crop. In fact it can truthfully be said that he has boxed all of the leading light-heavies, including Maxie Rosenbloom, the present titleholder. A check of the Birmingham warrior's record shows only nine losses and they were close decisions to such boys as Joe Knight, Rosenbloom, Bob Godwin and one fight on a fluke to Wild Bill Jordan, nof Memphis. Bozo avenged the defeat by Jordan with a one-sided victory two weeks later.

Carl Knowles does not boast the record of Bozo, but this youngster is now making himself a name among southern fighters. In recent weeks he has scored over Eric Lawson, Newsboy Brown, K. O. Joe King, Tex Wallace, Earl Rocky and others. He carries a right hand that is a real sleep, producer and should he tag the famous Bozo fans may witness that which has happened only on two occasions, Bozo in reclining position with the referee tolling off the tencount.

Savoldi Defeats Self in Lewis Go

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 15.—
(UP)—Ed Strangler Lewis, former world champion, defeated Jumping Joe Savoldi in a heavyweight wrestling match tonight when Savoldi was unable to return to the ring after missing a flying drop kick.

Savoldi appeared to 10,000 fans at Madison Square Garden to have been leading his veteran opponent just before the bout ended. While Lewis, 240-pound Californian, applied several telling head locks, Savoldi, former Notre Dame All-America fullback weighing 202, was at least an even match for the yeteran.

After 40 minutes of wrestling Savoldi repeatedly bowled over Lewis with flying tackles, and twice he staged his "flying drop kick," leaping into the air and kicking Lewis in the chest.

Chicks Can't Use Mott This Year

There is no likelihood of the Memphis Chicks signing Buster Mott, University of Georgia football star and an Atlanta boy to a contract on this trip.

This was made clear by Manager Doc Prothro of the Chicks last night when he stated that he had wired Mott not to come to Atlanta for a tryout, as he was full up on rookles and couldn't use any more at this time.

"Besides, I understand Mott's team is playing Ogiethorpe today and I wouldn't want to take him away from his club now." Prothre added. Prothre sent the wire to Mott after published reports in afternoon papers intimated he would be brought here for a tryout.

COMMODORE SPEAKS

On Wednesday Rich's will bring to Atlanta a visitor of unusual inter-est, Commodore Herbert Hartley, former command-er of the Leman who, on his ship, has served as host to such famo us dignitaries as Will Rogers, Mary Pickford, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Queen Marie, of Rumania, and a list of others well known people who covet and respect the action of the captain of one of the largest trans-Atlantic liners.

To be a ship's housekeeper is not far distant from the demands that are made upon family housekeepers. But it is staggering to hear Commodore Hartley relate how he conducted a household that contained a quarter of a million pieces of china, 42 refrigerators, that had in its cupboards 38 tons of poultry, 96 tons of fresh meat; 7,000 dozen eggs, and enough food to keep about 5,000 people well and happy for six or seven days.

It is staggering to hear of the 200,000 pieces of linen, comprising sheets, pillow cases and hapkins, which were necessary to stock this tremendous ship for each crossing of the Atlantic. And not the least of the commander's duties were those of supervising the handling of this mammoth stock of linens, a fact which he speaks of in his talk on Wednesday.

Commodore Hartley will present his interesting talk through the courtesy of the Pepperell Manufacturing Company.

Yankee' Seeks To Repay 'Rebel' for Abe Lincoln

SPRINGFIELD. Ill., May 15.—

(P)—Something of an argument arose today as to who should have privilege of paying $5.45 on the court costs of administering the estate of Abraham Lincoln.

Hubert L. Williams, Detroit, recently sent a check for the deficiency to Probate Clerk Lewis E. Bird, who had discovered the estate had never been finally settled.

Bird today received another check for $5.45, mads out to Williams, signed by Emma A. H. Blake, mailed from Los Angeles and drawn on a Philadelphia bank.

In a letter Emma Blake said her family, resident of Philadelphia during the Civil War, had been unionists and that she believed the Lincoln deficiency should be paid by descendants of Union sympathizers. Williams formerly lived in the south and his ancestors were aligned with the Confederates.

Bird said he would follow directions and send the check to Williams at Detroit.

By VICTOR EUBANK. NEW YORK, May 15 .- (P)-Cau tionary cross-currents seemingly retarded progress in the bond market today as the more active traders and investors shifted to the sidelines to await clarification of imminent Euro-

It was the dullest full day's session in nearly three weeks, sales totaling only $11.474.000, par value. The average for 60 domestic corporate loans sagged one-tenth of a point.

While the domestic corporate groups generally mulled about in a narrow range. German obligations slumped 1 to more than 6 points to new lows for the year, and issues of Great Britain, Poland and Japan were off fractionally to more than a point. Bonds of Switzerland and France, however, rallied about a point.

The weakness of foreign loans, as well as the hesitancy of American corporate securities, was attributed largely to uneasiness regarding the German situation which, it was feared in some quarters, might affect international economic and disarmament plans.

Domestic business and industrial news continued of the optimistic kind and a number of the highest grade corporation loans were steady to firm. Modest gains were held by some issues of American Telephone, Armour & Co., Goodrich, Midvale Steel, Southern Railway, Warner Bros., and Western Union.

A moderately heavy tone was displayed by some bonds of Wabash.

The opening was 24 to 34 points lower with active months showing net losses of 27 to 40 points during the first few minutes under more or less general selling. The heavy offerings were attributed to reports that some of the farm bill provisions might be delayed.

Early afternoon advances carried the market up to 8.98 for October and 9.14 for December or about 20 to 30 points above the low level of the forenoon. The volume of business tapered off at the advance, however, and closing quotations were 8 or 9 points off from the best on most active positions.

Unsettled European political conditions were also mentioned in connection with some of the foreign selling here. Liverpool cables reported a barely steady market there with realizing and a disappointing offtake. Houses with Liverpool and continental connections were among the early sellers here, while there was also some selling by the south.

Foreign exchanges favored the dollar. Dealers ascribed the mild upturn partly to Europe's preoccupation with the own affairs.

Returns from the industrial sector included news that steel ingot production had risen to the level of June, 1931, a recovery which one trade review interprets as signifying something more than a tardy seasonal advance. Railroad traffic statements for last week made their debut in the St. Paul's figures, which were slightly under the previous week but more than 2,000 cars over a year ago.

Corn closed skittish at the same as Saturday's finish to 1-4 higher, wheat 3-8 to 3-4 down, oats 1-8 to 3-8 up, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents off.

Wheat weakness was ascribed largely to unexpected setbacks in Liverpool prices and were associated with tense political conditions in Europe.

Provisions averaged lower, responsive to action of hog values and of grains.

TURN IRREGULAR

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER.

NEW YORK, May 15.—(P)—Stocks milled about indifferently on the curb today to close narrowly irregular. A rally during midday paved some of the losses that were suffered in the early dealings, but this show of atrength faded in the final hour.

A few specialties subject to a thin market, were able to hold substantial gains. Pepperell Manufacturing came under this category, moving up 10 1-2 points on a few transactions. Benson Hedges advanced 4 1-2.

Among the "beer" issues Hazel Atlas Glass gained nearly 5 points while Armstrong Cork was up 1-2. Technicolor dipped slightly.

Most utilities were narrowly irregular throughout the day and finished the session at fractional variations from their previous closes. Electric Bond & Share, however, sagged nearly a point. Oils finished fractionally lower. Transfer approximated 363,000 shares compared with only 637,000 last Friday.

6. A list of the official stores giving Jinkys and Jinky receipts will be published in The Constitution each Monday, Wednesday and Saturday. You may ask for and get Jinkys and Jinky receipts any day in the week, but JINKYS MAY BE ENTERED IN THE CONTEST ONLY ON WEDNESDAYS, AT 137 PEACHTREE ARCADE.

Constitution. 9. All Jinkys will be judged according to:

a. Oddity. b. Originality. c. Artistic Merit.

SUGGESTIONS: For the first week's contest, small lacy figures are not as desirable as bold, easily recognized designs. Make your Jinkys so the Judges will be attracted at once. Don't compel them to study out the design—in other words, make it odd, make it original, and make it as artistic as you can—BUT ABOVE ALL, MAKE IT. You have just as good a chance as anyone.

Extra Awards for First Month A $1 Merchandise Order good at any of the co-operating stores will be given to each and every person entering 25 Jinkys in the contest during the first four weeks (from Wednesday, May 3, through Wednesday, May 24).
